

UTILITY PANNIER BAG

For Carry On and Boost Utility Rear Rack

UTILITY PANNIER BAG INSTALLATION

Take the three straps on the top of the pannier bag and attach them to the larger upper tube of the Utility Rear Rack. Push it as far back as possible (not shown).

1. On the back of the pannier bag (wheel facing) is a horizontal strap that runs across with Velcro tabs on both ends. Take the rear Velcro tab (A1) and place it around the rear leg of the rack (as shown).

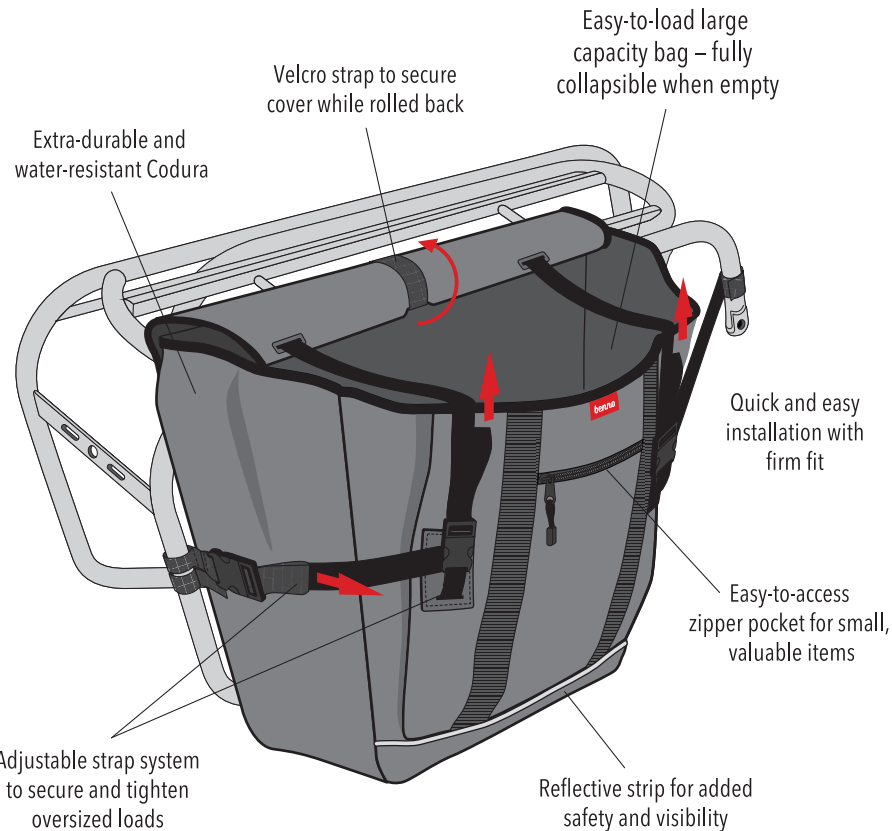

2. Feed the Velcro tab through the plastic loop and pull it tight. Then secure the end and velcro it back onto itself.

3. Locate the two horizontal straps on the front of the bag which each have a fastener and Velcro tab at the end. Take the rear facing strap and firmly attach the Velcro tab (B1) to the rear leg of the rack, above the other secured tab (as shown).

4. Now secure the other end of the bag closest to the front of the bike. Take the Velcro tab (A2) which is located on the backside of the bag and place it around the seat stay of the bike frame. Feed it through the plastic loop and pull it tight, then secure the end and velcro it back onto itself.

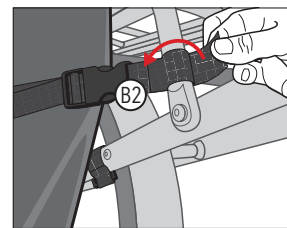

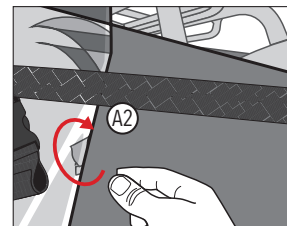

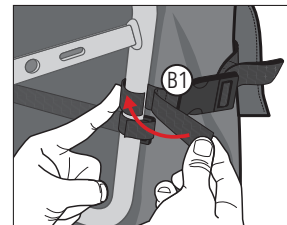

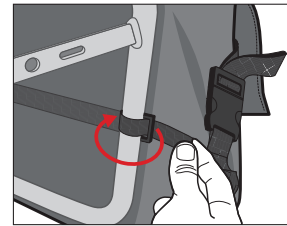

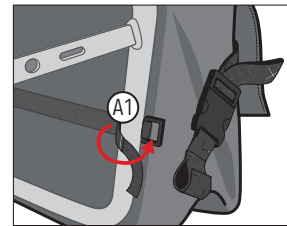

5. Take the other horizontal strap located at the front of the pannier bag and firmly attach the Velcro tab (B2) to the front leg of the rack.

IMPORTANT: Make sure that the bag is securely attached to the rack and frame. Check the ends of all Velcro tabs and ensure that they are tight and not too close to the tire.

This large capacity, extra-durable pannier bag is designed to carry a variety of different loads, big and small. The adjustable strap system lets you secure anything from boxes to oversized items by simply tightening the horizontal and vertical straps. Depending on the size of the item, you can either close the cover or roll it up and fasten it with a Velcro strap to allow extra room for the load to extend out
